Mikan Madai
(みかん真鯛)

The Mikan Madai is the pride and joy of Ehime Prefecture, which is also the largest producer of iyokan oranges in Japan. This red sea bream grows on a staple that is mixed with iyokan peels and oil. As such, its flesh is tinged with a delightful citrusy note that only intensifies when cooked.

Kumamoto Wagyu
(熊本和牛)

Boasting exquisite ribbons of marbling, the A5-grade Kumamoto Wagyu marks the pinnacle of beef excellence. The Japanese black cattle are raised in dreamy Kumamoto, which is blessed with pure spring water and lush greenery. The calves are fattened with a special feed for up to 20 months, which results in its lean and superbly tender meat.
